From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@emailbriefings.ft.com>
To: ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Mon, 11/24/2014 8:29:16 AM
Subject: In today's FT: King Carlsen retains world chess crown, Worldâ€™s most...

To view this email as a webpage, click here

FINANCIAL TIMES

Monday November 24 2014

UK HOMEPAGE

King Carlsen retains world chess crown

Norwegian beats Anand with game to spare

World's most advanced spyware let loose

Symantec says 'Regin' probably run by western intelligence

US oil imports from Opec at 30-year low

Domestic production stands at 9m b/d, its highest since the 1980s

VIDEO

Japanese equities: Abenomics, Act 2?

Japan's stock market has risen a fifth in the past month – which has seen more QE from the Bank of Japan and a snap election called for next month. Lex's Alan Livsey and Joseph Cotterill discuss if improvements in corporate governance matter more.

US HOMEPAGE

Silicon Valley faults immigration reforms

Tech groups says changes will not help recruit foreign programmers and engineers

Dallas Fed chief's inflation fears ease

Rate-setting committee 'needs bankers with experience'

Goldman leads $15m big data investment

Lender is largest investor in financial analytics start-up Kensho in a drive to tap new technology

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

World Bank warns of climate perils

Governments must tackle threat of man-made change, says president

Shadow trading signals financial crisis in Ukraine

Calls for international bailout as Russian pressure and plunging currency create a toxic mix for Kiev

Intesa considers bid for UK's Coutts

Italian bank plans European acquisitions to deploy €16bn of excess capital

ASIA HOMEPAGE

Fast Asia Open - After stimulus comes the rally

Asian central banks seen eying rate cuts

Easing in China and Japan raise expectations that others in region will follow suit

European corporate bonds and loans soar

'Lower-for-longer' funding costs driving refinancing, says Fitch

WORLD NEWS

Israel presses on with Jewish state law

Government move draws criticism from moderates and Palestinians

US and Turkey still divided on Syria path

'Safe zones' for rebels could be established near border

Suicide bomber targets Afghan volleyball game

Attack kills 45 spectators at tournament

Iran nuclear talks still deadlocked

Discussions shift to international observation and inspection as Monday night deadline looms

Portugal's ex-PM faces further questioning

Former Socialist leader José Sócrates and three others face further corruption questions

COMPANIES NEWS

GM struggles with Latin American slowdown

One of the world's fastest growing car markets is cutting costs and reducing overcapacity

Carbon capture faces struggle for viability

Canadian utility SaskPower points to high capital costs for rivals

Regulatory concerns hold back 3D printing

Manufacturers' problems proving that printed products are safe is delaying wider adoption

Black Friday frenzy moves online

Maersk chief warns over lossmaking rivals

Parlous state of container shipping concerns Søren Skou

MARKETS

S&P 500 on verge of beating 2013 streak

Falling energy prices and loosening China monetary policy spur US stocks

São Paulo-based exchange eyes LatAm rivals

BM&FBovespa hopes to make bold move to assert regional influence

COMMENT

Washington's two foreign policies

The question is whether Iran will have enough trust in Obama's ability to co-opt Congress

It is time to offer Putin a deal

Ukraine will never succeed with a hostile Russia on its borders, writes John Thornhill

Radical left is right about Europe's debt

It is logically inconsistent for the eurozone to enter secular stagnation and not restructure

We risk turning UK into new eurozone

We must make sure that reform is coherent and we understand its consequences, says Alistair Darling

'How Adam Smith Can Change Your Life', by Russ Roberts

The softer side of the grandfather of economics

MANAGEMENT

Jeremy Male: the billboard goes digital

CEO takes CBS's old outdoor advertising arm into 21st century

Eavesdropping will cure your itchy feet

We sometimes envy the trappings of other people's jobs. But the work itself? Never

Feedback: A third runway for Heathrow

Reader reaction to Michael Skapinker's recent column saying that supporters outnumber opponents

How happiness pays at work

Trust and freedom can make staff more productive

Manage email | Forward this email

Feedback | Manage portfolio

Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2014

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.

This email was sent by a company owned by Pearson plc, registered office at 80 Strand, London WC2R 0RL.

Registered in England and Wales with company number 53723.